THE ROCK 'N' ROLL SCIENCE EXPERIMENT FROM WESTERN PA

By Jim Price
Pennsylvania Musician Magazine
May 2023 Edition

When you hear the band name “Radio 45,” you might think back to an era when radio played 45 rpm vinyl records, which – once upon a time – were the main format by which hit songs were consumed by the masses. In a current age where listeners can access potential hit songs through multiple streaming and online outlets, social media platforms like Tik-Tok, YouTube, Vevo, and other avenues – how does a band or artist navigate the waters to get quality music out to listeners and potential fans, and earn a living doing so?

Based in Pittsburgh, Radio 45 takes a scientific and calculated approach toward accomplishing this.

Before we go on, a little background...

All seasoned musicians of the western and west-central PA music scene, the four members of Radio 45 – multi-instrumentalist C. Scott “Scotty” Gilbert, lead singer and lead guitarist Aaron “Double-A” Greer, lead singer and guitarist Gary Bickerstaff, and drummer, percussionist and singer Mark Wesesky – had interacted with each other through previous band projects. Aaron and Scott worked together in the Aaron Greer Band, which gained notoriety in Christian music circles with their 2008 album “Agents Of Change” and their update of U2’s “I Will Follow.” Mark and Scott worked together during their

One of Radio 45’s first song creations, recently issued before the start of the warm weather season, is Feels Like Summer, a catchy piece of power pop where thoughts of a special woman’s kiss trigger reflections about warm weather and fun times. Joining Radio 45 on this recording are studio guests Danny Sharrow on backing vocals and Mark Matthews on piano. The

“A classic American top-down convertible, radio blasting, air-guitaring, feel-good pop hit!”

Rory Carlile, Producer

“Many songs about summer are simply missing that summertime vibe. Radio 45’s
Feels Like Summer has that vibe in SPADES.
This song actually feels like a summertime hit.”
